

LWC pump station near north end of cove

This info was provided 6/2/25 by “DJ” a City of Depoe Bay public works employee.

The sewage/wastewater transfer station is located on the north end of the cove and is operated by the City of Depoe Bay.

Two sewage pumps run on as needed basis pumping sewage and waste water generated by houses located within LWC all near the cove area to the South Point Road Waste Water Treatment Plant. DJ does not know what homes it services.

The City representative did not know this information either.

A diesel fuel backup generator runs 1x per week for 15-30 minutes to maintain backup status, keep batteries charged and generator lubricated.

When power goes out, the generator automatically starts up and provides back up power to the pumps.

LWC residents do not have access to the pumping station. There are no external electrical outlets.

The alarm system that should alert city employees to a malfunction in the pump house does not appear to work.
